

Safety recommendations when working with articles containing lead.

The use of articles containing lead is no hazardous to the health if certain hygiene rules are adhered to.

These rules can be easily integrated in the everyday operation:

During the work:

- Always wear gloves (protection against injuries and better grip)
- Always wear a dust mask when performing welding work
- A dust mask is also needed when dismantling old lead sheets
- During the work, no eat nor drink.
- Do not chew on finger nails

After the work:

- Clean the hands thoroughly with a brush
- Clean the nose or wipe the mouth with a tissue
- Always remove work clothes before leaving the construction site
- Always wash work clothes separately from other textiles

For those who work very frequently with lead, blood lead content must be checked regularly.
